Council gives approval to three bylaws

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Updated regulations on garbage, off-highway vehicles and noise are now on the town's books, following passage of the final readings to three bylaws at last Monday's regular meeting of Elk Point town council.

None of the bylaws have major changes from their previous versions, but have been fine-tuned to allow for easier enforcement, including increased fines for violations.

Regional water line

ISL Engineering has been appointed for the regional water line. Coun. Ron Fraess said the company "gave the best presentation, and were geared up. They wanted it." He added that the company does soil testing and environmental assessments in-house. A unanimous decision to accept their proposal was forthcoming.

With the technical committee's terms of reference for the project also on the table, Mayor Parrish Tung commented that council is "very fortunate to have a politician that knows about this," referring to Coun. Fraess, who was formerly the town's public works superintendent. The terms of reference were also approved.

A third matter pertaining to the water line was the agreement to enter into a two-year contract with C. and J. Vanco Services, who will "shepherd the board through the whole thing," as project manager, with duties to be determined by the town.

It was noted that design costs for the water treatment plant upgrade will be covered by provincial funding as part of the regional project.

Economic development

"Are we going to fund an economic development coordinator position?" Mayor Tung asked council.

Former coordinator Bob Bezpalko "did a good job and would be hard to replace," Coun. Dwayne Yaremkevich noted.

"It would be fantasy fiction to get someone to fit the job description" for the funding available, Coun. Eugene Buck added. "The economic development committee should have enough brain and muscle power to get the job done" without a coordinator, he noted.

Alison Redford wins party leadership

'She is someone who I believe has a connection, an understanding of rural Alberta' – MLA Ray Danyluk

By TIM BANNMAN
Review Contributor

Former Justice Minister Alison Redford won the leadership of the Progressive Conservative party in the early hours of Sunday morning after ballots from across the province were counted and determined Alberta's designate premier.

Gary Mar earned the most first preference votes with 42.5 per cent of around 78,000 ballots cast, but due to the party's policy of needing over 50 per cent to win, ballots for third place candidate Doug Horner gave enough second choice votes to Redford for the win.

Horner took around 16,000 votes for 20 per cent, while Redford took around 29,000 for 37 per cent. With Horner's voters' second choice ballots, Redford advanced to 37,101 votes for 51 per cent of the vote. Mar came in a close second with nearly 35,500, 49 per cent, 1,610 votes behind Redford.

Both Horner and Mar congratulated Redford for securing the leadership of the party.

"With this leadership process we have renewed our party," Redford said. "We have voted for change."

Horner dominated the Lac La Biche – St. Paul constituency with 1,566 of 1,974 votes, 79 per cent, around the same percentage as the first vote. Mar increased his votes to 158 from 102, but not his percentage of support at around eight per cent, despite holding meetings in Mallaig and St. Paul on Sept. 26.

Redford moved from third, on the first ballot, to second in the constituency with 250 votes and 13 per cent, an improvement of nearly eight per cent.

Voter turnout in the constituency ranked among the highest in the province, beat only by Edmonton – Whitemud, Calgary West, Calgary – Elbow and advance polls.

"I was very impressed and appreciative of the turnout in our constituency," said MLA Ray Danyluk on Monday. "There were so many volunteers that worked so hard." The high turnout showed the constituency and rural Alberta "is engaged and is important and is critical on the landscape of this province," he said.

While Danyluk campaigned hard for Horner, Redford was his second choice. Redford earned around 1,200 second choice votes in the constituency, he said.

"She's very intelligent, articulate and confident," he said. "She is someone who I believe has a connection, an understanding of rural Alberta."

Mar's plan to eliminate the Municipal Sustainability Initiative and give the education tax to municipalities would have "killed small communities in rural Alberta," he added.

Danyluk expects Redford to appoint the cabinet by next week.

Around 144,000 people voted in the second ballot of the 2006 leadership race, a 46 per cent decline this election.

The time of year had a "major impact," said Danyluk, noting many people were out of their voting constituency or were in the fields combining. With the May federal election and the recent Liberal leadership election, people have had "enough politics," he added.

Bonnyville – Cold Lake also supported Horner, with 61 per cent of 586 votes. Redford came in second with 22 per cent and Mar third with 17 per cent.

Redford's victory came only days after her mother Helen died at the age of 71 on Sept. 27, which temporarily suspended the campaign.

Redford has named her transition team as she prepares to assume the premier's office, according to a press release. The team will be chaired by Calgary lawyer and Redford's long time friend Robert Hawkes, as well as former campaign manager Stephen Carter, James Heelan of Bennett Jones, former Redford leadership campaign staff Jeff Henwood and Josh Traptow, Alberta Health Services chair Ken Hughes, political strategist Susan Elliott, policy analyst Annette Hester, and communications consultant and former journalist Gord Rosko.

"I am confident in the collective years of skill and talent in this group, and couldn't feel more positive about setting up my office and coordinating further engaged and motivated individuals who are as energized and eager to be a part of this exciting and dynamic time in the Progressive Conservative Association of Alberta, as well as in our province," said Redford.

The fall session of the legislature has been cancelled.

Storseth reports from Ottawa

By BRIAN STORSETH, MP

Westlock- St. Paul

I am back in Ottawa for the fall sitting and have been very busy with the Government's omnibus crime bill. I was honoured to have Minister Kenny ask me to speak on the Human Smuggling Bill, Bill C-49. This Bill will help prevent Canada and our system from being targets for criminal organizations looking to take advantage of our good will and our refugee system, like what happened with the MV Sun Sea ship last year.

Today I was very proud to be the seconder of Guy Lauson's Victim's Restitution Bill, a Bill that I worked on with my colleague. The Victim's Restitution Bill will ensure that any federally incarcerated inmate who successfully files a lawsuit against the Federal Government and is issued a monetary reward does not personally receive any of that reward. As proposed in this Bill, the monetary rewards will be completely garnished from the inmate and given, firstly, to the victim of the inmate's crime; secondly, to any individual who has an outstanding restitution order, including the beneficiary of an unpaid spousal or child support claim, any beneficiary of a civil judgment or ongoing proceeding; and finally, to the victim services organization in the province in which the crime occurred. This is just another example of something we can do to put victims first.

As always, I look forward to your response and input on our Government's direction with these bills.

Teen takes on TV adventure challenge

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Teens, did you think you saw someone you know on a TV show last night? No, you weren't seeing things.

Only a few of her friends knew that a 13-year-old Elk Point girl would make her television debut last evening on the YTV hit reality series, 'In Real Life,' when it returned to the air for a third season.

Kelly Sam spent a month of her summer holidays traveling around North America with 17 other 12- to 14-year-olds from 16 large and small Canadian communities, taking part in tough but memorable experiences. This was Kelly's first trip to eastern Canada, and also her first trip without her parents, and she said that while she definitely missed her family, "We created a new family with the people on the show."

Growing up, Kelly was sometimes perceived as a shy little girl "who would snap like a twig if you hit her with a dodge ball." More recently, however, the honour student at F. G. Miller High School has proved to be energetic, creative, reliable and a good mediator. She competes in math Olympics, manages a band and is on the yearbook layout team. Her dream is to become a fashion designer.

Even with all these skills and aspirations, how does a teen from a small town end up on television?

For Kelly, the adventure started when she was "looking up things online and I stumbled on the show's website." Having seen episodes from the previous seasons, she was intrigued.

"It said they were casting for Season 3, so I applied." She was short-listed during the show's selection process, auditioned and was chosen, along with young people from cities like Montreal and Calgary, small towns like Nokomis and Coronach, Sask. and other communities from Norbay and Mount Pearl, NL to Kelowna, BC.

Taking part in the series was "really fun, and also educational," Kelly says. She feels it will also be educational for the television audience, who "get to see kids trying real-life jobs, and thinking that they could do that, too."

Last night's first episode saw Kelly and her fellow cast members dressed in camouflage and facing the challenging routines of army cadets, pitching tents, learning marksmanship and deciphering coded messages.

The nine episodes that follow will see the challengers trying their hand at beekeeping, work as part of the cast of a Broadway musical, and even performing aerobatics as stunt pilots as they strive to reach the finish line as quickly and correctly as possible. The winner at the end of the series will receive university tuition and an all-expense-paid family vacation.

F. G. Miller student Kelly Sam is one of the contestants on YTV's new season of 'In Real Life,' which premiered last evening.

If you missed last night's episode, it will be shown again at 11 p.m. on Friday and 12 Noon on Sunday, according to information provided by YTV.

Under new management

Alberta is no doubt in for a number of changes in coming weeks and months, as Premier-Elect Alison Redford, takes over the management of the province's business.

Part of taking over any business is generally to clean out the office and set it up the way it makes sense to the new person in charge, who can then get on with the work that needs to be done.

These changes could include anything from a vigorous moving day for the cabinet chairs, to an all-out housecleaning of government departments. Dusty old ways of doing things could end up in the trash, years of dust could be polished off the windows of transparency, and a bright, shiny new Alberta could emerge.

New brooms are generally reputed to sweep clean, and sometimes the best 'man for the job,' especially when it comes to housecleaning, is a woman.

WAY BACK WHEN...

New mayor, Musical Ride, FGM awards

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF OCT. 4 IN...

1986

His Grace Bishop John blessed the newly refurbished St. Vlodymir's Ukrainian Orthodox Church after two years of renovations and the recent addition of three glistening domes that previously topped a church in Calgary. The town's election race was well underway, with Byron Mann contesting Ed Buck's seat for mayor and 12 candidates vying for six council seats.

1991

Barbara Naber was named best all-around student, Kathy Stone the top Diploma student and Jodi Vogel the Citizenship award winner at F. G. Miller High School's awards night, where Naber, Tina Bjorkman, Shauna Seniuk, Kim Bugera and Stacy Dunham received Rutherford scholarships. The RCMP Musical Ride was an experience to remember, with over 5,000 viewers packing the stands for two performances.

1996

A mini-land boom was filling up Elk Point's industrial park, with two lots each sold to Tarsands Inc. and E-Can Oilfield Services, leaving only three undeveloped lots in the area. Heinsburg Community Hall just kept growing, with a $16,000 Community Facility Enhancement Grant going toward a 16 by 32-foot addition to the structure.

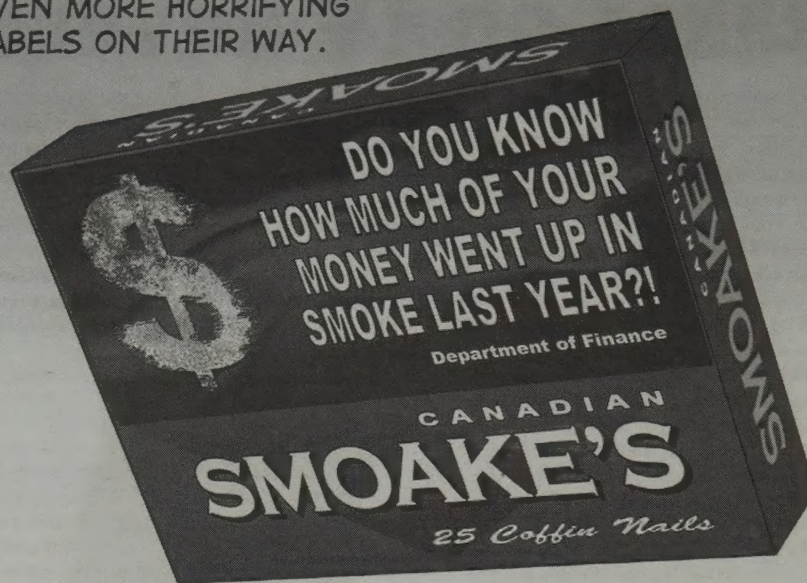

2001

Eva Gusnowski won the top Grade 10 student award and Leanne Wilson the top Grade 11 student award at F. G. Miller Awards Night, where Tanya Pankiw accepted the Bruce Smith Memorial award as the most helpful and caring student. Anadarko Canada Corporation gave a progress report on their exploration and development in the Kehewin- Moose Mountain area at an open house.

2006

Young cancer survivors Cassandra Glambeck, Clarissa Gusnowski and Kaylee Poitras were the honorary flag bearers for Elk Point Elementary School's Terry Fox Run. F. G. Family Week

October 3 - 9, 2011 is National Family Week. National Family Week has been celebrated since 1985 when it was proclaimed an official week by the Government of Canada.

This year's theme, 'Turning Your Family's Values into Action,' encourages families to think about how their values can take shape and become a part of their everyday activities. It is interesting how this National Family Week falls right before October 10th which is our Thanksgiving Day.

If we look at the theme, 'Turning Your Family's Values into Action,' the natural question becomes: how do we do that? Family values are the ideas and moral ethics that are considered to be important for a healthy family. They also can be considered communication, or spending time with relatives. When that takes place, good family values could be love, respect, compassion, honesty, trust, fairness, being flexible, and supporting one another's imperfections.

After reading the definition of healthy family values, it may be easy to point out that all of us don't probably live in a "healthy family". Maybe we are working on it. The poem by C.C. Miller titled "The Echo" illustrates the importance and impact parents have as they influence their children:

'Twas a sheep not a lamb that strayed away in the parable Jesus told,

A grown-up sheep that strayed away from the ninety and nine in the fold.

And why for the sheep should we seek and earnestly hope and pray?

Because there is danger when sheep go wrong: They lead the lambs astray.

Lambs will follow the sheep, you know; wherever the sheep may stray.

When sheep go wrong, it won't take long till the lambs are as wrong as they.

And so with the sheep we earnestly plead for the sake of the lambs today,

For when the sheep are lost what a terrible cost the

deanna

lambs will have to pay.

Although this poem relates to the importance of parental influence on a child, I am reminded that sometimes even when parents do their best, children can go astray. What happens is that family values have become not important to someone in the family, and the family is affected. The bottom line is that families need to find time to turn their family's values into action.

For example, one child tells the story that he likes to ride horses and go roping with his dad. A rope has different strands woven together to make it strong. If a rope had only one strand, it wouldn't be able to get the job done. Families can be like ropes. When only one person is working hard on their family values, the family will not be as strong as when everyone is putting forth the effort to help each other. Helping each other is one family value.

Another family value is to tell each other that they are loved. There is an example in the story, "Fiddler on the Roof"? Tevye is a poor milkman in Czarist Russia where he provides for five unmarried daughters and a sharp tongued wife. Faced with mounting financial strain and growing anti-Semitism, Tevye strives - like a fiddler on a roof - to maintain balance despite the precarious nature of his situation. At one point in the story, after hearing his daughters talk about love, he now questions Goldie, his wife. He says: "Goldie, do you love me?" She says: "Do I what?" He asks again: "Do you love me?" She responds in a song with - "For 25 years I washed your clothes, cleaned your house, given you children..." Tevye asks again: Do you love me? Goldie responds: "I suppose I do." Then they both say, "It doesn't change a thing but after 25 years it is nice to know."

There are a couple of messages in this example. The first message is that older generations probably didn't use the words: 'I love you.' This seems to be a modern day expression. At the same time, the love value expression occurred with their loyalty, devotion and work ethic with each other in their family life together. The second message in this part of the story is that: "it is nice to know". What this message is saying is that there is value telling people in your family that you love them. By saying it you are turning one value into action.

May you all have a Happy Thanksgiving as you work together and express your love for one another. You will be turning your family values into action.

October great for sports fans

October.... Hard not to love this time of the year. The fall weather is refreshing, it's cool in the mornings and evenings, but just right during the day for working, and lately, especially the last few years, September and October have been the best two months for sunshine too.

October..... is absolutely the best month of the year for the sports fans. The CFL is in full swing, the teams fighting for a playoff position. The NFL is just getting going. Lots of men love watching Sunday afternoon and Monday night football. It's a good thing the strike was averted at the last minute. Think of all the money that is spent every week at places like the bars. What would they have done if the season hadn't happened? The NHL regular season also starts in October and everyone is excited about new players and hoping their teams will have a good year, or in the Oilers' and Leafs' cases, can we at least make the playoffs!

But, best of all for myself; it's the start of the World Series. Watching baseball is not everyone's cup of tea, to some people it is like watching paint dry, but from a guy who spends a lot of time in the dug out every summer, it can't get any better. Every pitch can mean something, and every batter can change the course of the game. The teams have stats on every player, where a player tends to hit the ball, his average against right handers and left handers, and you can never underestimate the value of stats. We even use them on our team and believe it or not they work. Then there's the heroes. Some guys will come up big in tough situations, and it's not always the big money guys, sometimes it's the little unknown guy who taps the ball, a little blooper, and wins the game.

October..... Right on schedule, the ice is in, the kids had some shinny on Sunday. Unfortunately I didn't make it to skate with the kids, after bragging about it last week, I still had some outside chores at home to do, and that took precedence, and it didn't rain so I had no excuse. Things I should have done during the summer, but the ball season got in the way. The first regular minor hockey practice happened last night, with the little micro novice taking the ice. Tonight all the other minor hockey teams will be lacing them up, and before you know it, I will be back in my little sound booth, reporting on the games. Depend of course, if I get my work done at home!

A big Happy Anniversary going out today to hockey parents Wade and Lori Poitras.

And now for the K.A.Campbell quote of the week. "The game of hockey is simply not the game it was in my day. Shooting was more accurate then. Passing cleverer. Stick-handling was an art practiced not by just a few but by many." Last week's answer to: "Howe is a great player, but the dirtiest who ever lived." - Carl Brewer.

Chronic Wasting Disease (CWD) Testing Attention Deer Hunters

The Alberta government requires chronic wasting disease testing of all deer harvested within Wildlife Management Units 102, 116, 118, 119, 124, 144, 148, 150, 151, 152, 162, 163, 164, 200, 202, 203, 232, 234, 236, 238, 254, 256, 258, 500, 728 and 730. It is mandatory to submit heads of any deer harvested in these areas. Antlers and the skull plate can be removed before the head is submitted.

All hunters are encouraged to visit www.albertarelm.com to view their test results. When your results are available, a message will appear when you log onto the website. Only those hunters not registered on AlbertaRELM will receive a letter delivered through Canada Post. Any hunter who harvests a CWD-positive deer receives a phone call from Fish and Wildlife staff.

Thanks to all hunters and landowners for your continued support and co-operation with this important disease surveillance program. Last year, hunters submitted more than 5,000 deer heads. Of those, 19 tested positive for chronic wasting disease.

Refer to the 2011 Alberta Guide to Hunting Regulations for details regarding hunting opportunities along the Alberta/Saskatchewan border. For more information, including the locations of 24-hour freezers available for dropping off deer heads in eastern Alberta during rifle seasons, visit www.srd.alberta.ca/fishwildlife.

Jr. B Canadiens lose two to Warriors

By TIM BANMAN

Review Contributor

The Saddle Lake Warriors defeated the St. Paul Canadiens 13-4 for a second time in pre-season Junior B action at the Clancy Richard Arena on Sept. 27 in St. Paul.

The match started with a Warriors' slashing penalty six seconds after the puck dropped and a four-minute penalty after a roughing call less than seven minutes later. With 23 seconds left on the penalty, Justin Dubeau for the Canadiens scored.

Twenty seconds later, the Warriors' Jared Cunningham evened it up. The Warriors gained the momentum, ending the period 5-1, with goals from Talon Cardinal, Jade Cunningham and two from Darian Cardinal.

While working off a penalty given to the Warriors' goalie for having his mask up while playing the puck, Darian Cardinal scored again, and a minute later Jared Cunningham added another point.

Elk Point's Jared Vallee netted one for the Canadiens while Rylan Couch followed it up with a second, less than a minute later for 7-3. The Warriors' Miles Baptiste earned one more for 8-3 going into the third.

The Warriors dominated the third with four goals courtesy of Jared Cunningham and one from Cody Linklater. Brandon Ouellette scored one for the Canadiens.

Both teams cranked around 50 pucks at the net. Blocking the pucks between the pipes for the Warriors was Matt Johnson, returning for a second year to the team from Surrey, B.C. This season will be Johnson's fourth in Junior B, with a year in both Abbotsford and Squamish, B.C.

While the exhibition games have not been up to "full speed" so far this year, Johnson said his team is building depth. Successful Junior B teams need depth and a good balance between local players and imported talent, he said between periods, adding he thinks the Warriors are approaching that balance as its roster gets finalized. Johnson played 1,470 minutes in 27 games last year.

Canadiens head coach Tony Meger credited Johnson's quick legs and a good glove for the Warriors' strong performance.

"We lacked people in front of the net. He had pretty clear vision of everything that came at him. We've got to have more net presence, get that shot in there, get it through and fight for that puck."

The Canadiens continue to sort out its roster. The team tried out a few new players at Tuesday's game with a bench of 21 compared to 11 on Saturday. With several prospective recruits, the Canadiens did not have the chance to practice as a team before facing off.

Meger plans to fill the roster with as many local players from the St. Paul, Elk Point, Mallaig, Glendon and Ashmont areas as possible because he wants to give local skaters the chance to play at the Junior B level. Jared Vallee, Dino Meger and Dylon Loughran have joined the team from Elk Point.

"I'm trying to build a community team," he said. "I feel right now that it's very important that these boys from around this area feel like they have a place to play."

The Canadiens plan to welcome a few imports and may billet two players from Meadow Lake. A player from Bonnyville also skated in Tuesday's game, but the roster for the regular season has not been confirmed.

"If more talent wants to come in and join the group, you never say no to that either," Meger said.

The Canadiens start the regular season against the Wainwright Bisons on Oct. 9 in St. Paul.

Fewer volunteers turned out for the clean-up bee at the under-restoration Heinsburg Train Station, but the eight who did attend made slow but steady progress at hauling years of debris out of the cellar and a thorough cleaning of the new platform. Police, EMTs remembered in community's prayers

By Vicki Brooker
Review Staff

RCMP who served Elk Point and district as long ago as the late 1960s and early 1970s joined their current counterparts and three local EMTs in the front pews of Elk Point United Church on Sunday, as the community asked blessings on their service and their on-the-job safety.

Barry Golberg, who policed the area from 1969 to 1971 and his colleague Steve Arnason, here in the early 1970s, were in attendance along with Mike Harvey, who led the detachment from 1982 to 1985 and is now with the head office in Edmonton, Pat Muzzeral and Barry Kutryk from the early 1990s, Brian Quist, 2002-2003, and former office staffer Terrie Donaldson were all welcomed back to Elk Point. Current Sgt. Brad Lazicki and his crew, Kevin McGillivray, Nathan Fehr, Adam Bullock, Pedro Rodriguez, Troy Feero and Daniel Gagnard and Elk Point and District Ambulance EMTs Lisa Love, Doug Fisher and Kelly Sherwin also were honoured guests at the service.

Love and Rodriguez joined Rev. Lorraine Lambert in a special service of prayers and readings that asked for strength, wisdom and guidance for these individuals upon whom the community depends in time of trouble and trauma.

Rev. Lambert pointed out in her sermon that the first Christian people were centuries, the police of the day, and it was they who spread the gospel. One of these centuries, Cornelius, used his home as "the core of the first Christian church," she noted.

Following the service, everyone enjoyed a hearty lunch and time for visiting with old friends and neighbours.

A display of photos of detachment members from years gone by drew plenty of interest from the officers and the public alike, with comments such as "I remember him!" and "He was here when..."

After the RCMP contingent gathered for a photo with both a classic black-and-white police car and the Elk Point Detachment's newly-arrived, state-of-the-art police cruiser, many of former officers headed over to the detachment with the present staff to take a look at all the changes since their years in Elk Point.

OBITUARY

JOHNSON, Charles Patrick

Charles Patrick Johnson was born April 7, 1926 at the lovely Keitges' home east of Elk Point.

His parents, Tom & Kathleen Johnson, were en route to the hospital in Elk Point, travelling by horse and buggy, but time ran out. Mrs. Keitges acted as midwife and kindly helped them out. After spending most of his 85 years in the area, Pat passed away in the Elk Point hospital on September 27, 2011.

Pat grew up on the family farm near Lindbergh, Alberta. He walked to a one-room school for grades one to eight, then completed high school at a two-room Elk Point High School. He went on to take a welding and mechanics course in Calgary. Spare hours were spent with his two brothers and two sisters, helping out with the work of the farm. The family all grieved the loss of little brother Tommy who died at 4 years of age. His parents, sisters Sue and Marion, and brother Fred were left to carry on.

Pat never liked to be tied to a routine and his heart was not in livestock farming. He was much more interested in machinery and was a real Mr. Fix-It. Making some old machine work again always gave him much satisfaction. After the farm was sold to George and Dianne Anderson, Pat worked in local machine shops, driving and repairing school buses.

Never seeking fame or fortune, Pat lived a private and very humble life. He never got caught up in collecting material stuff, or the hustle and bustle of keeping up with the world around him. He loved learning about the history of the area, and was very much a part of that story. Canoeing was his favourite recreation; paddling many rivers and logging untold hours canoeing alone and with others. He enjoyed the solitude and the chance to witness nature undisturbed along the river banks, trying to capture some of it in his photographs. Pat sought out people who shared his interest in the preservation of the history of the area, and very much appreciated those friendships. He was active in scouting, school recreation programs, and in the Friends of Fort George and Buckingham House. He was often at the St. Paul Swimming pool and the A&W. He became a primary source of local history for many people.

After moving into Heritage Lodge, Pat found friends who had stories to tell and who listened to his memories. His family is grateful for the care and comfort that the staff at the Lodge and the hospital provided. Pat was predeceased by his parents; his sister, Sue; two brothers, Tommy and Fred; and his brother-in-law, Allan Hanna. He is survived by one sister, Marion Hanna of Picture Butte; 4 nephews, Dave (Karen), Don (Sharon), Mark (Holly) & Wade (Karen); 1 niece, Laurel (Greg) Van Vaerenbergh; and all their families.

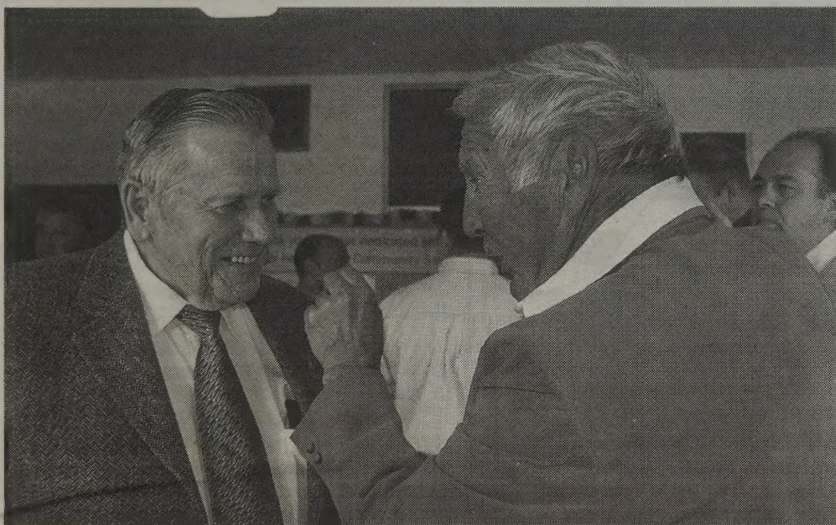

A Celebration of Pat's Life will be held on Saturday, October 15 at 1:30 p.m. at the Fort George Buckingham House Interpretive Centre, Elk Point. Please join family and friends in this remembrance event. To place online condolences, please visit www.gracegardensfuneralchapel.ca.

If desired donations may be made to Friends of the Forts, Box 967, Elk Point AB. T0A 1A0.

Grace Gardens Funeral Chapel, Box 1780, St. Paul, AB (780) 645-2677.

EMTs Kelly Sherwin, Doug Fisher and Lisa Love were honoured for their ongoing efforts and prompt service in medical emergencies in Elk Point and the surrounding community.

The F. G. Miller P.U.P is back in action!!

By NICOLE PLUNKIE AND CHEYENNE LAWRENCE
F. G. Miller High School

A new school year has started, and the P.U.P is back helping the community. We have now expanded into two groups: Senior and Junior P.U.Ps. Our causes for this year are cancer, hunger/poverty, and M.S (Multiple Sclerosis).

The cancer foundations that we are supporting consist of the Terry Fox Foundation run for Terry Fox, which will take place on September 30, 2011. The junior P.U.Ps hosted two baked sales to help the school reach their goal of $1500.

Some students are also looking forward to doing Relay for Life, which is a part of the Canadian Cancer Society.

Hunger and poverty are huge problems in the world, which is why our school wants to help "Stamp out Poverty."

"Stamp out Poverty" is a program where people save their stamps, from the mail, and then drop them off at the school library. The stamps are then sent off to OXFAM Canada, who will then sell the stamps to collectors, and all the money made goes toward programming and projects to help developing countries.

We also want to do the 30 Hour Famine. We are raising money and awareness about people starving in third world countries. We are encouraging students to raise a minimum of $30. The P.U.P will have activities throughout the day for any students participating. Any students, or staff, that join will not be able to eat for 30 hours. They do, however, allow us to drink clear juice (e.g. apple) and eat some white rice. This gives us a sense of how the people in developing countries have to live.

Good things come in bunches.

the future is friendly®

Every year around Christmas time we get the chance to fill shoe boxes, which are then sent to children in developing countries. This is also known as Operation Christmas Child. The Christmas Convoy also happens every year around the same time. We collect non-perishable food, which is then loaded into semis and distributed where it is needed.

Our next event will be the M.S (Multiple Sclerosis) Lakeland Enerflex M.S. Walk on May 12, 2012. The M.S. walk is an event that is fun for the whole family. Half of the funds raised will stay in St. Paul and the Lakeland area. The other half will go to research to find the cure to END M.S. Our school had such a fun time at the M.S walk last year, and we look forward to having lots of fun again.

As P.U.P members, we have all vowed to put a STOP to bullying. The designated anti-bullying day (aka Pink Shirt Day) occurs on February 29, 2012. FGM has decided to take it a step further and have it every month on the last Friday of each month. We are hoping to see everyone in a pink shirt.

The P.U.P is looking forward to involving themselves with the school and community again this year. We are hoping for another successful year!
